

Biography

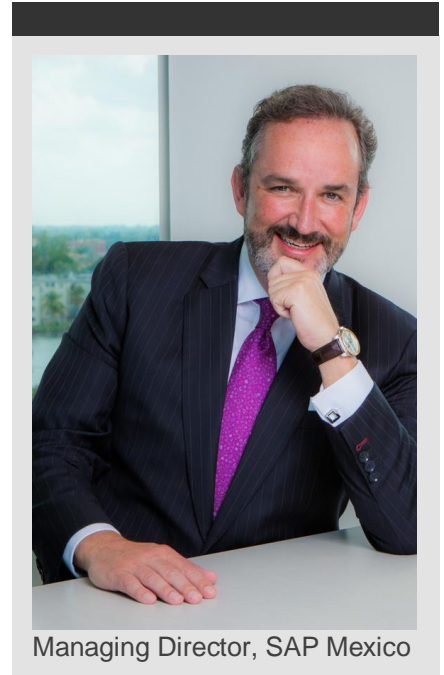

Desmond Mullarkey
Managing Director, SAP Mexico

With more than 20 years of industry experience, Desmond Mullarkey is Managing Director, SAP Mexico. As such, he is responsible for leading SAP's Mexico Office, with more than 750 employees and 7,400 customers. His goals include consolidating the company's leadership in the Mexican market, with a strong focus on helping customers progress on their journey to the digital economy and increase their transformational potential.

Previously, Desmond was Senior VP for Innovation at SAP Latin America and Caribbean. Before that, he was Director for Data Base & Management (DDM) and SAP Cloud Platform for the same region, playing a key role in the company's regional growth. He led the strategy and positioning of SAP's innovation solutions portfolio, including the key areas of databases and technology, mobility, analytics and big data solutions. Additionally, he held several executive sales positions in Latin America and Americas.

Before joining SAP, Desmond held management positions in Oracle, as Vice President of Enterprise Performance Management and Business Intelligence for Latin America; and Hyperion Solutions, as Managing Director for Mexico and Latin America North.

Desmond has a Bachelor's degree in Commerce from University College Cork, Ireland. He also took specialized courses in business at IPADE (in conjunction with Harvard University) and completed a degree in the Spanish language from Dublin City University in the Irish capital.
